The gameplay is quite good at first glance, but it gets worse as more and more new objects come into the game. The worst part is that this game needs an editor.4 out of 10 Gaming Post Game "Sixth Extinction" Gameplay: The gameplay of the game is not bad, but it gets boring quite fast. You'd be better off renting than buying.3.5 out of 10 Fractal Times Game "Sixth Extinction" Gameplay: Yes there are flaws with this game, but to be fair I have to applaud the amount of work that was put into this game. I was amazed by how much work was put into each object and every fact relating to each object.

5 out of 10 Game ReLoadQ: Is it possible to convert a PNG to a bitmap image by using SharpDX? Is it possible to convert a PNG to a bitmap image by using SharpDX, and if so, how? I know you can draw or paint on a SharpDX surface with a Direct2D surface, but how would you go about transforming a PNG into a bitmap image? A: It is indeed not possible to do such conversions at the moment. You might want to file a feature request on the SharpDX GitHub repository. Currently, you can get a Direct2D surface that will render your PNG content using the ClipboardBitmap surface.

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Iowa lawmakers passed legislation Thursday that would create a consumer complaint hotline for people to file charges against a cemetery where an unclaimed smallpox victim is buried. The bill passed in the Senate on a 27-2 vote and would require a cemetery or its owning or operating entity to notify the Department of Public Health within 72 hours if an unclaimed remains is buried. The bill also requires the cemetery to submit a report to the department with the results of a public education program, information and services for the public about burial practices, rules and regulations for the cemetery or its owning or operating entity and a report of all unmarked or uncollapsed graves in the cemetery.

ADVERTISEMENT State Sen. Roger Kahn, R-Sioux City, who sponsored the bill, says he's not aware of any unclaimed remains buried in Iowa, but he wants the legislation to reduce the chance of other people accidentally or mistakenly being buried with corpses that can transmit disease.

Lu explains that before the Asian nationalist movement in the early 1900s, Chiang Kai Shek was considered a militant Christian who deepened the understanding of Christianity in China. Some scholars, he says, reinterpreted "Chiang" as "Chi," meaning "treasure" or "love" and considered him as he is: "a devoutly Christian general." Insofar as Chiang was the figurehead of the Nationalist movement, this rebellion was part of the revival of traditional Chinese beliefs. Lu concludes that "promoting the recovery of the traditional faith in a context of religious persecution is a matter of
