Ingenieri testdriveunlimited2v034build16serial I am using apache. I am using mod_rewrite to rewrite this particular url : RewriteRule ~/GOC.aspx?$ /admin/content/1.0/$1/%26action%3Dlist [P] I am not sure whether this is the right url to be used in rewrite rule. Can anyone help me to do it? A: d0c515b9f4

And the file path was: testdriveunlimited2v034build16serial Thanks, A: Based on your comments, you are passing a standard text file to get the file: new File("test.txt") But then you want to get a specific part of the file. You need to use a different approach to get the part of a file. Here is an example to get the first three lines of a text file. If you are using Java (as you mentioned you are), you can check this example. public class Test { public static void main(String[] args) throws Exception { String fileName = "test.txt"; File file = new File(fileName); BufferedReader reader = new BufferedReader(new FileReader(file)); String line; String[] parts; while ((line = reader.readLine()) != null) { parts = line.split("[\n]"); System.out.println(parts[0] + " " + parts[1] + " " + parts[2]); } reader.close(); } } Q: How can I append a jquery submit handler to every form? I have a situation where I need a user to be able to submit their data through various forms. The forms come in dynamically from the server on the fly, and that's why I'm trying to avoid creating the submit handler in a separate file. I'm trying to do the following, but it doesn't seem to work... var myForm = $('.myForm'); myForm.submit(function() { myForm.submit(); }); Is there some way to do this? A: You're trying to attach a handler to the form's submit event using .submit() - this is already handled by the form's submit event. To loop over the form's elements and apply a submit handler to each of them, you can use a combination of .each() and .submit():

$('.myForm').each(function() { $(this).submit(function() {

Real and natural numbers with or without inner repetition If a real number or natural number doesn't have any "inner repetition" (i.e. number of 0 's is the same as number of 1 's) such as $\{0, 0, 0,$ $0, \dots\}$ then it is said to be irrational, meaning it can't be written in an infinite series of only rational numbers. But the real number or natural number $\{1, 1, 1, 1, \dots\}$ can be written as an infinite series of only rational numbers, since all the numbers are $1/n$, which is rational. What is the reason that only irrational numbers cannot be written as an infinite series of only rational numbers? What is the "reason" for an infinite series of only rational numbers?
