O projeto compila corretamente. Para testar eu tenho que ir no meu projeto, na estrutura de pastas onde fica o bin e o obj. No entanto eu estou com dificuldades no que me falta para rodar algo fora do projeto. Como ao invés de ir no meu projeto e rodar: mvn install -U -Dmaven.test.skip=true -Pdev já faço mvn clean install -U -Ddev A: Você pode usar um arquivo de configuração chamado settings.xml, que é específico para cada projeto. O arquivo pode ser pré-carregado usando a opção -P no comando mvn e configurado como a seguir:

Drops is a gravity-based musical instrument that uses physics and sound to create a self-regulating rhythm generation system. Your sound patterns will evolve as you play, creating a rewarding music experience. What is music? Music is a harmonious collection of patterns that affect us. It's one of the foundations of our sense of rhythm and rhythmical response. Your music in a sense is a collection of patterns that you create on Drops as you play. The structure of the dynamics shapes and the number of notes that you play are all self-regulated by Drops. Want to create your own pattern? It's up to you. Your music will become whatever you want it to be. Are you ready to share your music? It's really easy. Simply adjust your input levels so that Drops can hear the entire scale of octaves that you play and you are ready to share. The scales used by Drops are C, C#, D, D#, E, F, F#, G, G#, A, A#, Bb, and Bb#. By default, Drops will play in the middle of its octave range (anywhere from G to F). You can change the scale that Drops uses by adjusting the Input Level of your headphones or speakers. Hooks • You will need a USB powered adapter. • Follow the instructions in the included USB cable to create your own on-board USB adapter. • A computer with at least 4GB of RAM • A library with dedicated space for music files Enjoy. - Story 1 "Why are you doing this? Why, why?" Hadrian asked quietly. "Because." "And," Hadrian noted, "the sun is coming up." "Yup." Her teeth chattering and forcing her to grit her jaw into a clenched position that forced her face red with the effort, she stood up, hunched over, and walked to the passenger side of their vehicle before slipping into the driver side. "You sure you don't want this?" Hadrian asked. "You can leave if you wish... I can help you get somewhere, I just want to know why. What's... this been coming on a moment ago?" There was a long pause as Solange replayed a thought over and over in her mind. And then...she spoke. "The entire thing...yes." "You're going to get yourself killed." "I know." "Are you sure?" "That's, like, one of those things you can't be..." "Yeah, I get it. Are you sure?" "Okay," Solange acquiesced. "Yes." Nothing in their lives was immediately clear. Solange didn't seek him out often. There was a serious imbalance to their relationship with Solange somewhere in her mind looking for him, but the majority of her time was spent alone with her own thoughts. And when she found him, she spent but a brief time, enough for them to be intimate but not leave much to the imagination... "I won't ever leave you," Hadrian promised. "I know." It was an odd direction for the conversation to go in. In their time together, Solange found herself in an interest of emerging from her world and his. But now that she didn't find herself, she felt no inclination to exit her universe. She was much more comfortable while alone and she wanted to be with him, but she needed to know the reason as to why she asked for their safe and secure space. She might be disturbed by it, but she yearned to know.
