Reviews Instructions Instructions: On your laptop or Mac, click Google Earth. In the list of software, find "Google Earth". If you haven't downloaded Google Earth or Google Maps for Mac, click here to get them. When you click Google Earth, you will see a red screen showing the geographic coordinates on the earth. Press 1 to zoom in, press 2 to zoom out. Zoom in as much as you want. When you have found a location you want to be able to see, press F12, or press the green "zoom out" button in the corner of the screen. Press 1 on your keyboard to move North, 1 to move West and 1 to move South. Press 2 to zoom in to the previous location. Press 3 to zoom out. In this window you will be able to see the satellite imagery and terrain of the location you selected. Note that you can only view the imagery in a rectangle that corresponds to the image that you have downloaded. In the image list on the left hand side of this window click on the image you want to view. You will see that you can flip the image. Scroll down in the image list to find the image that you want to view. The Satellite image might be too small to see. Try dragging down the list in the image list to find the smallest image possible. If you are on a Mac, drag the black bar that is in the corner of the screen in this image window. On a laptop press alt-end to get out of fullscreen mode. Drag the window around in the screen to see all of the images that are stored. When you are finished playing with the imagery, press 2 on your keyboard to zoom back in on the original location. Press 1 to zoom out. Click the green "zoom out" button in the corner of the screen to zoom out to the world map.
