KeyNet was the successor of the well-known Key_Jet.My CML is a great experience, I truly have found my doctor's office to be a comfort and help me through this disease. Thank you for everything, I look forward to many years of feeling great! - Alex In the past, I have experienced hearing loss from medications, but with this drug, I am hearing again and it is truly restored. Since taking Xcelodot to date, I have had about a 10 decibel drop in hearing loss (between 10-13dB). It has only been 5 weeks. That is excellent because I used to have a drop in hearing to approximately 30 decibels in 1/4 inch range and when you can hear the background noise at 45-50 decibels (almost a foot away), you can smell the food you can't hear. My overall health is good and I look forward to continued good health. This drug has become a part of my life and I have no intentions of changing. I know that my disease will be pushed back when it would have easily been progressing forward without this drug. - Anthony I just wanted to let you know the Xcelodot extended release kartofil has been a tremendous help to me. I had been taking a levoxyl kartofil for a couple of years and it had helped me some, but I wasn't feeling very great. My staph infection was really bad and I was coughing up blood. I had seen my doctor but no one could figure out what was wrong. I went to the emergency room (2 1/2 hours away) and they didn't have a good explanation for what was wrong with me. I ended up getting a staph infection that was resistant to my previous antibiotics. I was very concerned about whether or not I would get better. My doctor told me I was doing very well and the hospital couldn't find anything wrong with me. My lung function had dropped 10% and I was hyperventilating (I was about to require a breathing machine). I c6a93da74d
